After learning the intricacies of competing in the NTT INDYCAR SERIES (NICS) during his rookie season of 2021, Scott McLaughlin and the No. 3 DEX Dallara/Chevrolet team enjoyed a breakout year in 2022. McLaughlin and his team delivered for Team Penske and its partners by producing three race victories, three pole positions and a fourth-place finish in the series championship standings. The strong sophomore season has McLaughlin well positioned for another championship run in 2023.

McLaughlin opened the 2022 campaign in grand fashion with a win and his first NTT P1 Pole Award on the streets of St. Petersburg to lead the NICS standings for the first time in his career. After an early summer stretch brought some challenges, McLaughlin got back on track to earn his second win of the season at the Mid-Ohio Sports Car Course in July to score his 50th career victory for Team Penske. Another victory and pole position sweep in the penultimate race of the year at Portland International Raceway vaulted McLaughlin back into the top five in the standings and a chance at the championship in the season finale at WeatherTech Raceway Laguna Seca. A sixth-place finish at Laguna Seca propelled McLaughlin to fourth place in the series standings to close out the 2022 season.

McLaughlin resides in Charlotte, N.C. with his wife Karly and he has adopted the Carolina Panthers as his favorite NFL team and the University of Wisconsin Badgers in college football. McLaughlin also continues to root for New Zealand's All Blacks rugby team and is an avid golfer.
